

City of Santa Cruz

Interim LID Implementation Tracking Report

Summary of Annual Implementation Statistics

In June 2010, the City did the first revision to the mandatory “Storm Water BMPs for Development and Remodel Projects” and that included the addition of a LID section. The revised BMPs required all development and remodeling projects to comply with the specified Low Impact Development requirements. This applied to all projects including residential (including single and duplex dwellings), commercial, and industrial projects. Thus, the City required that even small residential projects disconnect downspouts and consider LID measures such as raingardens or porous pavement. In September 2011, the City revised the mandatory "Storm Water BMPs for Development and Remodel Projects" in order to incorporate mandatory LID standards per the Central Coast Joint Effort as well as an LID checklist into the BMP brochure. All new development and qualifying remodel sites from September 2011-February 2013 were required to implement LID standards according to the project’s “tier” level. The table below shows the number of discretionary application received and the number of projects implementing LID design or structural improvements. Projects that were not required to implement LID either did not increase the footprint of buildings and impervious areas, or received an exemption due to site constraints.

Year	Number of discretionary applications approved for SFD, Additions, ADUs, commercial buildings, subdivisions	Discretionary projects implementing LID
2011	26	22
2012	49	46
2013	34	31
2014 (Jan – Mar)	2	2
Total over period	111	101

In 2012, PW Staff worked with the IT Department to make changes to the City’s parcel site tracking database (TRAKiT) so that the water quality, LID, and Maintenance Agreements requirements could be tracked for new development and redevelopments projects. The tracking report shows that the majority of permit applications are for small residential projects and the City has required implementation of LID design on the majority of those projects.

Year	Residential permit applications (SFD, ADU, additions) implementing LID		Commercial permit applications implementing LID
	Parcels under ½ acre	Parcels over ½ acre	Parcels under ½ acre	Parcels over ½ acre
2011	15	4	0	3
2012	37	2	3	4
2013	19	2	4	6
2014 (Jan – Mar)	1	0	0	1
Total over period	72	8	7	14

The TRAKiT Report indicates the current status of each project (e.g. Building Permit under review, issued, or construction “finalized”), which types of LID measures were planned/implemented by each project, and whether a maintenance agreement was required. A copy of the overall Trakit Report for Q2 thru Q8 is attached. The report indicates that nearly all projects implement downspout disconnection and many projects also implement design measures such as directing runoff from impervious surfaces to landscaping or minimizing impervious areas by utilizing porous materials for walkways or driveways. Larger projects are implementing structural BMPs such as bioretention or detention/retention basins.

Year	LID Design or Structure Implemented
	Disconnect downspouts	Impervious surface runoff to landscape	Permeable pavers /material	Bioretention	Detention Basin	Vegetated swale	Infiltration trench
2011	21	3	5	7	4	10	1
2012	43	9	19	0	0	16	1
2013	26	15	15	8	4	14	2
2014 (Jan – Mar)	1	1	2	1	0	0	0
Total over period	91	28	41	16	8	40	4

The City also maintains a spreadsheet to track LID projects requiring maintenance agreements and has modified that spreadsheet to specify which PCR Tier projects are subject to. The spreadsheet identifies structural control measures incorporated into each project. There were 6 applications that were issued building permits between March 6 and June 30, 2014 that triggered the City's LID plan review. Two of these had previously received discretionary plan approval prior to March 6, 2014. Although they were not subject to the PCRs, both projects were required to incorporate LID: the 1st project, a multifamily housing remodel on Bay Ave, incorporated porous pavement and bioretention in parking areas, and the 2nd project, a commercial remodel on Madrone St, incorporated bioretention in parking areas. The other 4 projects were residential remodels and ADUs that created or replaced less than 2,500SF. These projects all implemented measures to minimize runoff. There was 1 permit application for a 10-unit apartment complex that triggered the Tier 2 requirement and received discretionary approval on 7/22/14. The project incorporated extensive pervious pavement in the parking lot and bioretention facilities to meet the runoff water quality treatment requirement.
