

WHAT'S A SHARROW?

Sharrows are used to guide bicyclists on streets that don't have bike lanes. They're a simple reminder to car drivers and bicyclists to share the road!

⤴ When you see sharrows on the road... ⤴

1 Expect to see plenty of bikes – and be ready to slow down and share the road.

2 Bicyclists will be riding in the middle of the right-hand lane to avoid the door zone.

3 Keep an eye out for kids on bikes – sharrows are often used around schools.

Hey, Bicyclists!

Sharrows are a reminder to avoid the door zone of parked cars. Please also follow the rules of the road: yield to pedestrians, obey traffic signs and signals, and never ride wrong way.
